WHAT CA'SES EARTHQUAKES! "Let me talk with this philosopher," says earthquakes " and get to answer more conclusive than Lear get to his mad inquiry about the forms, delivered a lecture a few evening since on the causes of earthquakes. His theory is that the center of the earth is gradually coming and consequently shrinking; that the crust of the earth settles down slowly and readjusts itself to the shrunken core, and that the disturbances resulting from these reality timents are what we call enringakes. This is an old theery, and on the whole it seems more probable that any other ret adduced. Prof. Le Conte illustrated

It by many new observations.

But there are other theories, widely at variance with it, which have the support of men who have eminent positions in the schooling. National Geological survey, who has been giving special attention to the recent seismic phenomena of our South Atlantic coast, expresses the belief that these phenomena are the results of a movement toward the sen of the vast plain lying between the seaboard and the vast plain lying between the seaboard and the sea on the one hand and the superincumbent mountain range. The dark ways there are no the class ways there are no the class ways. theory is well founded we have also on the Pacific slope the conditions that would lead us to expect like disturbances. Prof. Methes believes simply that the coast plain of the Carolinas has the sea, and that the accompanying displacement is announced in the shock or tremor which has brought such ruin to property, and fright in the property. fright to the whole people. He says a great plain, extending from the Appalachian range, may naturally be supposed to extend out under the sea for about a hundred miles where there is a sharp depression. Hanging in ward there is a fise in the elevation, and consequently a finally reached where the seaward pressure ac-tually overcomes the frictional resistance, and a sudden movement takes place. He believes there is no other explanation for the disturb-ance of so large a body of land at one time, extending several bundred miles along the coast-and from the mountains far out into the sea.

quakes in general; for in Greece and other parts of the world the earthquake has always been associated with volcaule action, showing apparently that it was the result of forces setting from beneath, and not the mere dislocation resulting from the dissociation. from the slipping down into the sea of a super The theories are all interesting, and many of them are supported by bighly ingenious and suggestive arguments. But until more facts are gathered for comparison and induction, it is not probable that there will be much addition to positive knowledge of the cuiness of earthy takes. Electrical disturbances are always noted in connection with these movements of the earth, and this fact has led many persons to attribute earth-quakes to the mighty and mysterious power that manifests itself through electrical action. But Prof. become warms the observer against possible and even probable mistake here. Electric force, because of its inexplicable and irresistible power, and because of its close alliance and interconvertibility with the other great forces of nature, is too upt. LeCourse says, to be accepted as the all-sufficient cause of every un-usual phenomenon in the natural world.

The slightly ber of rolling mills which were built to roll iron rails have been wholly alundoned, and partly by the fact that the increasing use of steel rails tends to diminish the demand for the products of iron tolling mills. The annual capacity of the rolling mills in finished from and steel is virtually the same now as in 1881, being .600,000 net tons in 1884 and 7,613,000 tons in Will'AT—The carporation of tarket opened in better tone but blood earlier. Eastern arkets weak San Francisco spot riches frim under a pressure to buy. Here the position does not apparently change Receipts on the whole are not the increase but westside receipts promise to fall away. River boats are bringing down a fair quantity. Regard ling prices there is little to be said. Best information is that full figures of $1.1 \times and $1.2 \times are obtainable and ulte freely paid. Arr vals from the eastern section are from all quarters but some are sending little.

POTATOR's—Market very julet but steady the call being only local Exists—Quote tic with a weak tone because of reported lings stocks. Leceipts are not at all large and there will be a call for the north next week. Another lot of 30 cases Eastern is at hand CHICKLINS—Late Saturday choice were sold out at $5.50. More than this is not certain to day.

Lady Duffy Wins the 5.8 Handleap Bace Mamle Comet the Three Minute Trot, and Mark Twain the Two year old Dash

FAIR (JROUNDS 13th of Sept Although this is the day for formal opening the fair is hardly yet under way. Work of preparation is still going on in the payillion and visitors are not allowed to enter. The doors will be open to-morrow but there is not likely to be very much in the way of an exhibit beyond displays of merchandise, which are numerous and attractive Agricultural exhibits come in slowly and will be meagre as usual. Stock too coles in slowly and up to 40 clock this afterneon there was nothing in the pens to speak of large arrivals are expected however to-night. The whole interest of the day was in the races which after much wairing begun at 10.00. THE LIEST BACE
